6. To build students confidence and public speaking abilities through product presentations and interactive activities.

7. To provide guidance for summer internship preparation and maximizing learning opportunities during SIP.

Outcomes:

Students gained a clear understanding of the placement process and company expectations.

Students developed well-structured, professional, and tailored resumes.

Significant improvement in communication, teamwork, leadership, and problem-solving skills.

Students became more confident in collaborating within teams and managing time efficiently.

Students gained practical knowledge of corporate etiquette, professional communication, and conduct.

Enhanced ability to draft professional emails, reports, and presentations effectively.

“Aptitude and Problem Solving”:

The sessions and tests conducted under the topic of “Aptitude and Problem Solving” aimed to enhance analytical thinking, logical reasoning, and awareness among participants. These exercises play a crucial role in developing skills necessary for competitive exams, decision-making, and real-life problem-solving scenarios.

The primary objective of Aptitude Test I was to assess and improve participants' abilities in basic numerical skills, logical reasoning, and problem-solving. The test aimed to identify strengths and weaknesses in foundational areas.

Outcome:

The test provided participants with an understanding of their current aptitude levels. Areas requiring improvement were identified, and constructive feedback was provided for further development.

Organising Unit: SKN Sinhgad School of Business Management

IQAC cell activity No: 11

Number of Participants: 223

Program Coordinator

Dr. Prapti Dhanashetti

Prof. Niketa Patil

Mrs. Akshada Kumbhar

Title of the Guest Lecture: - Resume writing

Name of Speaker:- Dr. Jayesh Minase (Dean CPC Management Sinhgad Institutes)

Objectives of the session: 1) to provide guidance and practical tips on how to write an effective resume.

2) To inform the importance of objective in the resume.

Brief Report: The session aimed to provide participants with essential knowledge and practical tips on crafting an effective resume. Various important points were discussed as follows.

Resume Structure: The session emphasized the importance of a clear and organized resume structure. A typical resume structure includes sections like Contact Information, Summary or Objective, Work Experience, Education, Skills, and Additional Information.

Contact Information: How to format and include their name, phone number, email, and LinkedIn profile?

Summary or Objective: Students were guided on how to create a compelling summary or objective statement that highlights their career goals and key qualifications.

Work Experience: The session stressed the significance of showcasing relevant work experience. Participants learned how to list their work history in reverse chronological order, emphasizing accomplishments and responsibilities.

Education: The importance of listing educational qualifications, including degrees, institutions, and graduation dates, was discussed.

Skills: The session covered how to include a skills section, focusing on both hard and soft skills. Keywords and phrases relevant to the job industry were emphasized.

Additional Information: Include additional sections like certifications, languages, or volunteer work if relevant to the job.

Formatting Tips: The session provided insights on resume formatting, such as using bullet points, consistent fonts, and appropriate whitespace.

Proofreading and Review: The session concluded with a reminder to thoroughly proofread and seek feedback from others to eliminate errors and improve the resume's overall quality.

Q&A Session: Students had the opportunity to ask questions and seek clarifications on specific resume-writing concerns.

Conclusion: The session on how to write a resume offered practical guidance on creating an effective resume that can make a positive impression on potential employers. Participants left with a better understanding of resume structure, content, and formatting, as well as the importance of tailoring resumes for specific job applications.

Outcomes : 1) Students learned how to effectively structure and format their resumes.

2) They have become more aware of the importance of tailored resumes.

Title of the Guest Lecture: Rubicon Soft skill Training Program

Name of Speaker: Mr. Bhushan Deodhar

Mr. Akhilesh Sumkle

Brief Report: The Central Placement Cell and SKN Sinhgad School of Business Management team embarked on a comprehensive training program which was conducted by Rubicon in association with Barclays to improve knowledge, skills, and abilities of students and for managing placement activities. The training program was held from 2nd November 2023 to 4th November 2023, and it has covered various aspects of Placement.

Communication Skills: Participants learned how to improve communication with students, faculty, and potential employers to streamline the placement process.

Soft Skills Development: The program emphasized enhancing interpersonal and leadership skills for better coordination and team management.

Technology Integration: The Rubicon training program also highlighted the integration of technology for better management of placement-related data and processes.

2nd November 2023

On the first day of Rubicon training session, each participant had the opportunity to introduce themselves. Participants shared their full names to establish personal identity.

Background: We briefly described our academic and professional backgrounds, highlighting any relevant experience or expertise.

Goals and Expectations: Participants outlined their goals and expectations from the Rubicon program, which ranged from personal growth to professional development.

Interests and Hobbies: Some personal insights were provided, such as interests, hobbies, or passions outside of work.

Outcomes: The CPR activity was a resounding success, achieving its objectives of equipping participants with essential life-saving skills and promoting awareness of the importance of immediate response in cardiac emergencies. The session instilled confidence in participants to act in such situations, potentially saving lives.

Personal Grooming: The training session also focus on personal grooming emphasizing the importance of maintaining a clean, well-groomed appearance. Participants received guidance on grooming practices such as skincare, hair care, and appropriate attire for different occasions.

3rd November 2023

On the second day of Rubicon training session the participants were asked for public speaking and confidence building. This session was designed to impart knowledge and practical techniques to enhance participants' public speaking skills and boost their confidence in various professional and personal contexts.

Public Speaking Fundamentals: The session commenced with an overview of the fundamental principles of effective public speaking, emphasizing the importance of clear communication.

Confidence Building Techniques: Various confidence-building techniques were introduced, including positive self-talk, visualization, and relaxation exercises. These strategies aimed to empower participants to approach public speaking with increased self-assurance.

Practical Exercises: The session included interactive exercises and role-playing scenarios. Participants were given the opportunity to practice public speaking in a safe and supportive environment. Constructive feedback and guidance were provided by the trainer.

Body Language and Vocal Skills: The importance of non-verbal communication was discussed, covering aspects such as posture, gestures, and voice modulation. Participants learned how to use body language and vocal skills to enhance their message delivery.

Email Etiquette: The training session commenced with a focus on email etiquette, with an emphasis on crafting professional and effective emails during the job application and interview process. Participants learned about the structure of email correspondence, including subject lines, salutations, and signatures.

Telephonic Etiquette: The session covered essential telephonic etiquette to prepare participants for phone interviews. Topics included how to answer and initiate calls professionally, maintaining a clear and confident voice, and the importance of active listening and asking relevant questions.

Responding to Interview Invitations: Participants were guided on how to respond to interview invitations via email and telephone, ensuring they convey enthusiasm and professionalism in their responses. They learned how to confirm interview details, express appreciation, and set a positive tone for the upcoming interview.

4th November 2023

On the third day of Rubicon training session ,the participants were held on to Group Discussion (GD) and Personal Interviews was conducted. The session was led by experienced trainers in the field of recruitment and communication. The session was organized to provide participants with insights and practice in GD and personal interview techniques, which are vital skills for success in various professional settings.

Group Discussion (GD): The session began with a focus on GD, where participants were divided into groups to discuss a topic which was to be chosen by their own, provided guidelines on how to initiate a GD, present arguments effectively, and summarize the discussion. The trainer emphasized the importance of active listening, respectful communication, and time management during a GD.

Personal Interviews: Following the GD segment, the session transitioned into personal interview techniques. Participants were guided on how to prepare for interviews, including researching the company, understanding the job description, and formulating concise and impactful responses to common interview questions.

Mock Interviews: To apply the knowledge gained, participants had the opportunity to participate in mock personal interviews. The trainer conducted these interviews, simulating real-life interview scenarios. Constructive feedback was provided on interview performance, including communication skills, body language, and content.

Q&A Session: Participants were encouraged to ask questions and seek advice on interview strategies and best practices. The trainer addressed queries related to interview attire, dealing with nervousness, and handling difficult interview questions.

Title: "Summer Internship Programme Preparation"

Guest Speaker: Dr. Jayesh Minase

Brief Report: The preparation process for SIP involved setting personal goals, conducting company research, enhancing skills, refining application materials, engaging in networking, preparing for interviews, and continuous professional development.

Personal Goals and Objectives:

Clear goals were established for the internship, focusing on skill development, industry exposure, and professional growth. These goals align with my broader career aspirations and contribute to a purposeful internship experience.

Company Research:

Thorough research has to be conducted of the host company, covering its background, mission, values, and recent achievements. This knowledge forms the foundation for effective integration into the company's culture and aligning contributions with organizational goals.

Skill Enhancement:

Efforts were directed towards enhancing technical and soft skills relevant to the internship role. Participation in online courses, workshops, and practical projects aimed to acquire and strengthen competencies crucial for success.

Resume and Cover Letter Preparation:

The resume underwent careful review and updates, emphasizing experiences and skills required to the internship. A tailored cover letter has to be crafted to showcase alignment with the company's values and a clear understanding of the role.

Interview Preparation:

A systematic approach to interview preparation included mock interviews, self-reflection, and feedback sessions. This preparation aimed to build confidence and readiness for the interview process.

Conclusion:

The comprehensive preparation undertaken positions us for a successful and impactful Summer Internship Program. We were enthusiastic about contributing to the team, learning from the experience, and leveraging this opportunity for professional and personal development.

Case Study: Uber Disrupting the Taxi Industry

Uber's ascent as a disruptive force in the transportation industry has been nothing short of revolutionary since its inception in 2009. By ingeniously harnessing technology and pioneering the sharing economy model, Uber swiftly reshaped the traditional taxi landscape across the globe. With its groundbreaking mobile app, Uber seamlessly connected riders with drivers utilizing their personal vehicles, bypassing the cumbersome infrastructure of conventional taxi dispatch systems. This innovative approach not only delivered unparalleled convenience, transparency, and affordability to consumers but also fundamentally altered the competitive dynamics within the industry.

In response to Uber's disruptive incursion, traditional taxi companies and regulatory bodies faced significant challenges. Confronted with a paradigm shift in consumer preferences and operational norms, taxi firms struggled to adapt their legacy business models to the new digital era. Regulators grappled with the regulatory implications of Uber's disruptive innovation, often leading to contentious battles over issues such as licensing, safety standards, and fair competition.

The impact of Uber's disruptive presence reverberated throughout the taxi industry, profoundly influencing consumer behavior, pricing dynamics, and regulatory policies. Consumers flocked to Uber for its convenience, affordability, and superior user experience, leading to a notable decline in traditional taxi usage. This seismic shift in demand forced taxi companies to reassess their pricing strategies and service offerings in a bid to remain competitive in the face of Uber's relentless expansion.

Uber's ambitious global expansion strategy further compounded the challenges faced by traditional taxi services. Navigating diverse cultural, legal, and economic landscapes, Uber tailored its business model to suit the unique nuances of each market it entered. However, this expansion was not without its obstacles, as Uber encountered regulatory hurdles, opposition from incumbent players, and cultural barriers in some regions.

Looking ahead, the long-term implications of Uber's disruption on the transportation industry are profound. As traditional taxi services grapple with dwindling market share and mounting pressure to innovate, they must adapt or risk obsolescence. Key lessons gleaned from Uber's disruptive innovation underscore the imperative for businesses and managers to embrace technological advancements, anticipate shifting consumer preferences, and adopt agile strategies to thrive in dynamic markets.

In conclusion, Uber's meteoric rise as a disruptor in the transportation industry serves as a compelling case study in strategic innovation and market disruption. As industries across the board confront the specter of disruption, the lessons learned from Uber's ascent are invaluable in guiding strategic decision-making and fostering resilience in the face of uncertainty.

Questions:

- What were the key factors contributing to Uber's disruption of the taxi industry?
- How did Uber's business model differ from traditional taxi services, and what advantages did it offer to consumers?

- What challenges did traditional taxi companies face in responding to Uber's disruptive entry into the market?
- How did Uber navigate regulatory challenges in various cities and countries during its expansion?
- What are some potential long-term consequences of Uber's disruption on the transportation industry, and how might stakeholders adapt to these changes?

Read the case and write the answer of any two questions submit it before 27th Feb 2024.

1) What were the key factors contributing to Uber's disruption of the taxi industry?

→ several key factors contributing to Uber's disruption of the taxi industry.

2) Global Expansion Strategy - Uber's ambitious global expansion strategy allowed it to challenge rapidly enter new markets adopting its business model to local regulations and preferences.

3) Sharing Economy Model - Uber pioneered the sharing economy model, enabling individuals to monetize their personal vehicles by providing transportation services.

4) Technology and Innovation - Uber leveraged cutting edge technology to create a user friendly mobile app that concentrated riders with drivers efficiently.

25) How did Uber navigate regulatory challenges in various cities and countries during its expansion?

→ Uber navigated regulatory challenges in various cities and countries during its expansion through a combination of strategies:

1) Market Entry Strategies - Uber tailored its approach to each market based on local regulatory landscape. In some cases it entered into partnership with local business or governments to gain support and navigate regulatory hurdles more effectively.

2) Localization - Uber recognized the importance of understanding and respecting local customs, laws and cultural sensitivities. It adjusted its services, pricing and marketing strategies to align with the preferences and expectations of each market it entered.

Overall, Uber's approach to navigating regulatory challenges involved a mix of adaptation, legal action, strategic partnership and localization, allowing it to expand its presence globally despite.

News paper Peadng Analysis : Human voice is a unique gift, use it well

Speaking Tree

By - Homayun Taba

Each of us has a unique voice that is an individuality. The voice is one instrument among many other instruments. As an instrument we employ other one can learn to play it well with focus on tempo, timbre, tone, emphasis, speed and volume.

Two unmistakable voices come to mind: "I have a dream," said Martin Luther King Jr. and the other of Louis Armstrong.

It is still amazing how the purging of air from the lungs to vibrate the vocal cords could create such a range. The quality of a voice depends on the position of the tongue, teeth and variation in articulation.

There seem to exist three kinds of voices - one we speak in, one when we think or ruminate, and one when we write. It is said that each of us finding one's voice is a challenge for any author.

An echo is the return of a voice, silence is its absence though the echo it communicates a lot. A voice can be gentle, stern, melodious, commanding, it can convey the subtlety of a poet, the intensity of a warrior, the earnestness of a student, the wisdom of a teacher. The words and tones of the voice are a true voice of judgment.

Voice is power, the marginalized have no voice, therefore they do not get noticed. Voice is help, equally so when people speak in one voice against injustice. Democracy at its core implies diversity of voices.

All spiritual traditions know the significance of the sound of the voice - recitations of sacred texts, the Gregorian chant, mantras, recitations, and the Azaan call to prayer. Words or mantras become alive when articulated with voice.

In order to tune to the inner voice, quiet so-tude is required and the cacophony of the external ones needs to be muted. One authentic voice that is difficult to ignore is the voice of conscience - that quietly audibly one that tells us "Don't do it."

To express and to connect are two main human psychological needs - expressing feelings, needs, ideas that establish connection. Disconnection often explains why people shout, not because of physical distance but the psychological one.

From a mother's soothing melodious lullaby to the inspiring voice and words of a great speaker, the acoustic energy of a voice can lift us with warmth of enthusiasm or dampen our spirits. It is an instrument of impact, therefore, a careful choice as to how to deploy it - appealing to unite, helping to guide, asking to be reasonable, or attempting to divide, creating disharmony that may be the reason we can still hear the voices of those who have impacted our lives. However, we experience less of it because the cacophony of texting and emojis has left little scope for sensing the tonal quality, mood, nuance, and the warmth of the spoken word. For this reason, I prefer sending voice messages.

The singing of birds at dawn and dusk could be interpreted as the voice of joy. What they convey is that the world is meant to be celebrated. And here once again, Louis Armstrong's voice begins to resonate in our ears.

Name of the Student: Esha Vilos Malshikare

In Homayun Taber's article "Human voice is a unique gift, use it well," the emphasis on the importance of the human voice resonates strongly. The human voice is indeed a remarkable gift, serving as a powerful tool for communication, expression, and connection. It allows us to convey our thoughts, emotions, and intentions in nuanced ways that written words or gestures alone cannot achieve.

When we use our voices effectively and responsibly, we can foster understanding, empathy, and unity among individuals and communities. It enables us to build meaningful relationships, bridge cultural divides, and inspire positive change. However, this gift can also be misused or underutilized, leading to misunderstandings, conflict, and missed opportunities for connection.

Therefore, it is essential to recognize the value of our voices and strive to use them in ways that uplift and empower both ourselves and others, This means actively listening to others, speaking with honesty and integrity and advocating for justice and equality. By harnessing the the powers of our voices of good we can create a more harmonious and inclusive society. Where everyone's voice is heard and respected.

Which play a crucial role in leadership.

Communication skills are essential for leaders to convey vision, inspire action, and foster collaboration within their organizations.

b) Analysis :-

Elon Musk's communication style is characterized by transparency, boldness, and directness.

He frequently utilizes social media platforms like Twitter to share updates, engage with stakeholders, and express his views on various subjects.

Musk's ability to communicate complex

Technological Concepts in a simple and accessible manner resonates with both technical and non-technical audiences.

For instance, his articulate presentations during Tesla's product launches and SpaceX's missions captivate global attention and generate excitement about the future of technology and space exploration.

c) Impact :-

Musk's communication has a significant impact on organizational performance. His transparency among employees, investors, and customers. By openly discussing challenges and setbacks, Musk demonstrates accountability and encourages a culture of learning and resilience within his companies.

Moreover, his visionary communication style inspires innovation and attrac top talent, contributing to Tesla's and SpaceX's competitive advantage in the industry.

d) Critique :->

While Musk's communication style is effective in many aspects, it also has its drawbacks.

His unfiltered and sometimes controversial statements on social media have occasionally led to backlash and legal repercussions. Moreover, his ambitious targets and grandiose announcements can create unrealistic expectations and volatility in the stock market.

Musk's tendency to overpromise and underdeliver raises concerns about credibility and long-term sustainability.

Additionally, his confrontational approach towards critics and the media has fueled negative perceptions and strained relationships with stakeholders.

To enhance his effectiveness as a communicator, Musk could benefit from refining his messaging to strike a balance between bold vision and realistic expectations. Adopting a more measured and diplomatic tone in communication could help mitigate risks and build stronger relationships with stakeholders.

e) Conclusion :->

In conclusion, Elon Musk's communication skills play a pivotal role in shaping the success and trajectory of Tesla, SpaceX, and his other ventures. While his bold and transparent communication style drives innovation and inspires followership, it also poses challenges and risks that require careful navigation.

Business leaders and managers can learn from Musk's communication approach to foster transparency, innovation, and stakeholder engagement while being mindful of the importance of credibility, balance, and diplomacy in effective leadership communication.

Product Talk – Laptop

Name : Sejal Rajesh Gujar.
 Div. : E
 Roll No. : HR-30

Introduction of Laptop

Laptops, also known as notebook computers, are portable personal computers designed for mobile use. They integrate most of the typical components of a desktop computer, including a display, keyboard, touchpad, and battery, into a single compact unit.

Laptops have become an integral part of our daily lives, enabling us to work, learn, and stay connected on the go.

Brief History of Laptop

1970s - 1980s
 The earliest portable computers, such as the Osborne 1 and Compaq Portable, were bulky and heavy, weighing up to 24 pounds.

2000s - Present
 Laptops have evolved with faster processors, longer battery life, and advanced features like touchscreens and 2-in-1 convertible designs.

1990s
 Laptop designs became more compact and lightweight, with the introduction of touchpads and color displays, making them more so-friendly.

Players in the Market

Global Leaders

Top laptop brands include Dell, HP, Lenovo, Acer, and ASUS, which dominate the worldwide market share.

Regional Strongholds

Brands like Xiaomi and Huawei have gained significant market share, especially in Asia.

Specialized Niches

Apple's MacBooks cater to the creative and design-focused communities, while gaming laptops from Alienware and ASUS ROG target enthusiasts.

SWOT Analysis of Laptop

Strengths

Portability, versatility, and increasing computing power make laptops a popular choice for work, entertainment, and on-the-go productivity.

Weaknesses

Laptops can be more expensive than desktops, have shorter battery life, and are generally less repairable than their desktop counterparts.

Opportunities

Emerging technologies like 5G, flexible displays, and advancements in battery life and processing power can drive further innovation in the laptop market.

Threats

Competition from tablets, smartphones, and the increasing popularity of cloud-based computing may pose challenges to traditional laptop sales.

Product Life Cycle (PLC) of Laptop

Introduction

New laptop models are introduced to the market, often with cutting-edge features and technologies.

As demand for laptops increases, manufacturers expand their product lines and introduce more affordable options.

Maturity

The laptop market reaches a saturation point, with fierce competition among brands and a focus on incremental improvements.

Decline

As newer technologies emerge, the demand for traditional laptops may decline, leading manufacturers to phase out older models.

Pricing and Availability

Budget Laptops

₹20,000 - ₹40,000

Meant for basic tasks like web browsing, document editing, and light media consumption.

Mid-Range Laptops

₹40,000 - ₹80,000

Offer a balance of performance, features, and portability for everyday use.

High-End Laptops

₹80,000 and above

Designed for power users, gamers, or professionals with demanding workloads.

7.2 Best Practices II

1. Title of the Practice: Faculty Orientation Programme “Train the Trainer”

2. Objectives of the Practice:

Objectives for Improving Faculty Qualities at Sinhgad Technical Education Society's S.K.N. Sinhgad School of Business Management:

1. Improve teaching skills by learning new teaching methods.
2. Make better use of campus resources and encourage them with resources at STES.
3. Develop mentoring skills and promote diversity and inclusion.
4. Build leadership and management skills and introduce faculty to the Sinhgad Culture.
5. Support continuous professional growth and Help new faculty enhance communication skills.

3. The Context:

The Faculty Orientation Program was held at various campuses of the Sinhgad Institutes of Management, providing full hospitality facilities for its faculty members. All faculty members and directors of the institutes participated in the sessions.

Expert senior faculty guided junior faculty members through case studies and presentations on various specializations related to the subjects they would be teaching in the upcoming semesters, as designated by the organizing committee panel. Identified areas for improvement were used as the basis for providing constructive feedback and suggestions for improvement to the faculty members. The program aimed to foster a collaborative and supportive environment where faculty could develop their skills and enhance their teaching effectiveness.

4. The Practice:

The Faculty Orientation Program at the Sinhgad Institutes of Management is a comprehensive initiative designed to integrate new faculty members into the institution's academic and cultural environment. Held across various campuses with full hospitality facilities, the program aims to enhance teaching effectiveness, encourage continuous professional development, and foster a collaborative and supportive atmosphere.

Senior faculty members and directors actively participate in the sessions, ensuring a rich exchange of knowledge and experiences. The program includes presentations on various specializations related to the subjects that the faculty members will be teaching in the upcoming semesters. These presentations, curated by the organizing committee panel, provide valuable insights and set the stage for effective teaching strategies.

A key component of the orientation is the guidance provided by expert senior faculty. They mentor junior faculty members through case studies and hands-on sessions, offering practical advice and sharing best practices. This mentorship helps new faculty members navigate the academic landscape and enhances their confidence in their teaching abilities.

The program also emphasizes the importance of continuous improvement. Identified areas for development are used as the basis for providing constructive feedback and suggestions to faculty members. This approach ensures that faculty members receive personalized guidance aimed at addressing their specific needs and enhancing their overall performance.

Additionally, the orientation program promotes the use of new technological resources provided by STES, encouraging faculty members to incorporate innovative tools and techniques into their teaching methods. Diversity and inclusion are also key focus areas, with sessions dedicated to cultivating an inclusive classroom environment.

5. Evidence of the Practice:

Faculty members acknowledged the significance of faculty orientation programs across all management specialties. The importance of these programs was highlighted in the context of enhancing the quality of management education, promoting professional development for teachers, and improving the work-based learning environment. The overarching goal was to not only advance knowledge and skills but also to enhance the mastery of students' cognitive abilities. The feedback received was overwhelmingly positive. Faculty members recognized the importance of upskilling their knowledge bases, became aware of new and innovative teaching pedagogies, and had the opportunity for peer learning.

6. Problems encountered and Resources required:

In further detail, the Faculty Orientation Program involved bringing together faculty members from different hierarchical levels onto a unified platform. This required meticulous planning and organization to manage travel logistics and hospitality services, ensuring a comfortable and conducive environment for all participants.

Another significant challenge was coordinating the schedules of the Directors from various management institutes, as well as the internal experts who were part of the evaluation panels. Their presence and participation were essential for providing valuable insights and feedback during the program. The significance of creative thinking and cognitive development was recognized as crucial components in enhancing teaching effectiveness.

The session started with ARM: How innovation drives research and development case study taken up by Dr. Milind Marathe. He focused on the flow of New Product Development (NPD) process for ARM and the factors considered while developing new product. He discussed that the case can be opened up in the class for discussion by an introductory video of NPD process to help students understand the process of NPD and to learn the role of innovation in NPD. The case will enable the students to understand BAH concept of new product and decide the classification of the product.

While reviewing the Nivea – Managing the Legacy Brand case study Dr. Milind Marathe suggested to map it with the subject Product and Brand Management and through videos and exhibits explained how students can learn about company's growth and how it sustained the brand Nivea. The importance of element of legacy in the Nivea brand story plays a major role. The case study will help in successfully understanding the various concepts in Brand Management and process of creating brand experience.

Dr. Mamta Mishra opened the discussion for the case study Kellog's: Devising a communication plan with the process of communication and then drawing parallels with the process of Integrated Marketing Communication (IMC). The case study can be taken further with various advertisements of Kellog's to understand various steps in developing marketing communications and understanding the components of process of developing Promotion Mix and their effective use in five Ms of advertising.

While discussing Oreo in India – Launching and Establishing A Global Brand in India Using IMC Effectively case study Dr. Mamta Mishra elaborated on communications strategy developed for Oreo in India, various elements of the IMC developed and executed for Oreo launch and phases of the Brand's IMC programme through various exhibits available in the case study. Discussion and deliberations were made by participants also as to how the case will be helpful for students to understand the concept of IMC strategies, evaluate various elements of IMC campaign and designing IMC programme

In the case study How Dabur used interactive storytelling to captivate their audience Dr. Ganesh Yadav discussed that how the method of story developing over period of time showing the product used by generation after generation can help in understanding the concept of brand equity and increasing it eventually through advertisements targeted towards different customers. The product profile extended by Dabur hair oil to capture maximum market share and develop customer product relationship strategies to engage with target audience also were instrumental in contributing towards increased brand equity.

JD: Using market research to support decision making case study steered by Dr. Sagar Pawar led to the discussion with participants that how to understand what is market research, primary market research, secondary market research and Quantitative and Qualitative market research. The case study was deliberately made a part of the matrix as after semester II students would be going for their SIP and the case study will help in learning the purpose of market research, difference between primary and secondary market research and how market research as an ongoing process adds value to the decisions made by a company.

The last case study to discuss was TNT: Delivering a superior customer experience in which Dr. Sagar Pawar discussed the importance of Customer focus, benefits of customer focus, customer satisfaction and methods to measure customer satisfaction in the subject Consumer Behavior. A well-presented case by students with relevant information helps in understanding consumer attitude, the determinants of consumer behaviour and organizational factors influencing consumer behaviour.

Final Discussion and Outputs:

- Though the participants were pouring in their inputs during discussion of each case; there were deliberate opinions by each of them for one or the other case which led to different solutions of the cases.
- Their active participation could reveal various methods to collect facts and figures of the cases under consideration and innovative and creative teaching methods for case discussions.
- The participant faculty members could get an idea and also share their ideas for leading the case in the class, methods how students will enjoy while learning through cases.
- The discussion on developing the teaching notes and mapping with CO and PO proved to be useful.
